Gestapu (Gerakan September Tiga Puluh) 1965 adalah peristiwa besar yang mengubah sejarah Indonesia. Meski telah lewat setengah abad, Gestapu masih diselimuti kabut misteri dan pertanyaan. Buku ini memiliki keunikan tersendiri dibandingkan literatur sejenis, karena penulisnya menyaksikan langsung situasi di seputar Gestapu. Selain itu, sebagai akademisi, dia menguasai alat analisis dan kesempatan mempelajari dokumen dan literatur langka. Dalam buku ini, penulis menjawab bermacam kontroversi secara berimbang serta berusaha menjawab pertanyaan terpenting: Siapa dalang sebenarnya dari Gestapu: Sukarno, Soeharto, atau Aidit? "Bung Salim, menuliskan kesaksiannya tentang peristiwa sejarah yang super-misterius ini, dengan gaya amat menarik dan memukau tentang 3 tokoh sentral di sekitar Peristiwa G-30-S. Kesan saya dari membaca buku ini: Lebih baik menyalahkan seorang Aidit daripada PKI sebagai keseluruhan Partai." -Asahan Alham Aidit, seorang eksil Indonesia yang menetap di Amsterdam "Meski setengah abad telah lewat, misteri siapa yang membunuh enam jenderal Angkatan Darat pada 1 Oktober 1965 belum terungkap seluruhnya. Buku ini menawarkan analisis paling meyakinkan yang pernah saya baca. Berkat pengalaman pribadi selaku wartawan pada masa itu serta ilmuwan politik yang mengikuti dari dekat peran politik militer selama puluhan tahun, penulis menjelaskan dengan jitu dan cermat peran yang kemungkinan besar dimainkan para aktor penting, terutama Sukarno, Aidit, Syam, Latif, dan Soeharto." -R. William Liddle, Profesor Emeritus Ilmu Politik, Ohio State University "Dalam kaitan memperingati 50 tahun kegagalan Gestapu, saya mengusulkan agar Prof. Dr. Salim Said memperdalam, memperluas, dan memerinci satu bagian dari bukunya yang terdahulu. Buku inilah hasilnya. Salim Said adalah salah satu saksi sejarah yang perlu menuliskan apa yang dialaminya. Rasa ingin tahunya yang kuat, ketajaman analisisnya, posisinya dan sudut pandang yang tepat, menjamin buku ini amat layak dibaca." -Salahuddin Wahid, Pengasuh Pesantren Tebuireng Pernah terbit sebagai bagian dari buku Dari Gestapu ke Reformasi. [Mizan, Publishing, Gestapu, PKI, G30SPKI, Negara, Sejarah, Negara, Tragedi, Indonesia] Translations on South and East Asia Genta Smart Publisher Indonesia is Asia's third largest country in both population and area, a sprawling tropical archipelago of some 180 million people from hundreds of ethnic groups with a complex and turbulent history. One of Asia's newly industrializing countries, it is already a major economic powerhouse. In over 800 clear and succinct entries, the dictionary covers people, places, and organizations, as well as economics, culture, and political thought from Indonesia's ancient history up until the recent past. Includes a comprehensive bibliography, maps, chronology, list of abbreviations, and appendix of election results and major office-holders. This second edition has been thoroughly updated and expanded to cover the events that have occurred in Indonesia's history in the past fifteen years.

Pretext for Mass Murder Sanata Dharma University Press Teori-teori kritik sastra terbaru memperlihatkan bahwa secara fundamental, sastra terlibat dalam kehidupan konkret manusia, dan bukan hanya sekadar gambaran abstrak sebuah dunia alternatif. Stephen Greenblatt -pelopor kritik New Historicism menolak pandangan bahwa sastra adalah dunia alternatif. Bagi dia, sastra justru mengintensifkan dunia yang satu dan sama ini. Dengan demikian, sesungguhnya tak ada yang tidak politis. Buku ini memperlihatkan tegangan dan dinamika hubungan antara sastra dan politik melalui kajian yang cermat terhadap representasi Tragedi 1965 dalam Negara Orde Baru. Melalui buku ini, pembaca mencermati dan memahami posisi politis dan sumbangan sastra di tengah-tengah perjuangan hidup manusia Indonesia dalam menegakkan derajat dan martabat kemanusiaannya. Mereka harus berhadapan dengan sekelompok penguasa yang juga berjuang dengan gigih untuk menegakkan kekuasaan mereka. Di sini diperlihatkan bentuk-bentuk tanggapan dan perlawanan sastra terhadap hegemoni politis yang dimobilisasi penguasa dalam merepresentasi Tragedi 1965.

Buku ini akan menjadi buku pertama yang membahas hubungan antara sastra dan politik. Mahasiswa dan para pakar dari berbagai bidang ilmu yang ingin memahani episteme Orde Baru dapat mengambil manfaat dari buku ini. Buku ini memberikan renungan bagi kita semua, bahwa pembangunan adalah untuk manusia, bukan manusia untuk pembangunan. Dimensi humanistik pembangunan merupakan sebuah keniscayaan. Sastra akan terus hadir untuk mengawal pergulatan manusia Indonesia dalam menegakkan martabat kemanusiaannya.

An Ethical and Sociological Analysis Univ of Wisconsin Press
Indonesia is the home of the largest single Muslim community of the world. Its Christian community, about 10% of the population, has until now received no overall description in English. Through cooperation of 26 Indonesian and European scholars, Protestants and Catholics, a broad and balanced picture is given of its 24 million Christians. This book sketches the growth of Christianity during the Portuguese period (1511-1605), it presents a fair account of developments under the Dutch colonial administration (1605-1942) and is more elaborate for the period of the Indonesian Republic (since 1945). It emphasizes the regional differences in this huge country, because most Christians live outside the main island of Java. Muslim-Christian relations, as well as the tensions between foreign missionaries and local theology, receive special attention.

This book offers an interdisciplinary, historically grounded study of Asian cinemas' complex responses to the Cold War conflict. It situates the global ideological rivalry within regional and local political, social, and cultural processes, while offering a transnational and cross-regional focus. This volume makes a major contribution to constructing a cultural and popular cinema history of the global Cold War. Its geographical focus is set on East Asia, Southeast Asia, and South Asia. In adopting such an inclusive approach, it draws attention to the different manifestations and meanings of the connections between the Cold War and cinema across Asian borders. Many essays in the volume have a transnational and cross-regional focus, one that sheds light on Cold War-influenced networks (such as the circulation of socialist films across communist countries) and on the efforts of American agencies (such as the United States Information Service and the Asia Foundation) to establish a transregional infrastructure of "free cinema" to contain the communist influences in Asia. With its interdisciplinary orientation and broad geographical focus, the book will appeal to scholars and students from a wide variety of fields, including film studies, history (especially the burgeoning field of cultural Cold War studies), Asian studies, and US-Asian cultural relations.

Due to its popularity, this collection of conference papers has been reprinted. The text's title was also the focus of the conference which was held in 1988 at the Monash University in Australia. The articles collected in this book are quite heterogeneous, although they share the same concern, namely democratization process in Indonesia.

How does an authoritarian state reform its police force following a transition to democracy? In 1998, Indonesia, the third largest country in the world, faced just such a challenge. Policing had long been managed under the jurisdiction of the military, as an instrument of the Suharto regime – and with Suharto abruptly removed from office, this was about to change. Here we see how it changed, and how far these changes were for the better. Based on direct observations by a scholar who was involved in the last days of the New Order and who saw how the police responded to regime change, this book examines the police, the new regime, and how the police was disassociated from the military in Indonesia. Providing a comprehensive historical overview of the position of police in this change of regime, the book focuses on two key areas: the differences between local and national levels, and the politicisation associated with decentralisation. Arguing that the disassociation of the Indonesian National Police from the military has achieved only limited success, the book contends that there is continued impetus for the establishment of a professional police force and modern and democratic policing, which will entail effective public control of the police. A pioneering study of the police in Indonesia, examining key issues in the post-Suharto era, this book will be of interest to scholars of Southeast Asian politics and of policing and politics in the developing world.

The Police in the Era of Reformasi Mizan Publishing

Although numerous accounts have been published of the genesis and character of the attempted October 1965 coup in Indonesia, many important aspects of that affair still remain very unclear. This seminal work by two of the world's leading Indonesianists offers the first clear analysis of what really occurred during this dark time in Indonesia's history.

In 1965-66, army-organized massacres claimed the lives of hundreds of thousands of supporters of the Communist Party of Indonesia. Very few of these atrocities have been studied in any detail, and answers to basic questions remain unclear. What was the relationship between the army and civilian militias? How could the perpetrators come to view unarmed individuals as dangerous enemies of the nation? Why did Communist Party supporters, who numbered in the millions, not resist? Drawing upon years of research and interviews with survivors, Buried Histories is an impressive contribution to the literature on genocide and mass atrocity, crucially addressing the topics of media, military organization, economic interests, and resistance.

GESTAPU 65 Cornell University Press

This is the first book in several years to review the foreign policies of major Southeast Asian states and the first ever to include those frequently neglected smaller states. It is also unique in the editors' adherence to a new comparative framework which attempts to weave together the earlier literature on comparative foreign policy analysis and current concepts of political economy. Comparative foreign policy studies are introduced by three distinguished scholars in that field. A general survey of international relations in Southeast Asia then precedes the country chapters, all authored by experienced specialists. A concluding chapter attempts to identify the emerging patterns of Southeast Asian foreign policy and suggest explanations for them.

KEGAGALAN KUDETA G 30 S PKI Cornell University Press

The Indonesian massacres of 1965-1966 claimed the lives of an estimated half a million men, women and children. Histories of this period of mass violence in Indonesia's past have focused almost exclusively on top-level political and military actors, their roles in the violence, and their movements and mobilization of perpetrators. Based on extensive interviews with women survivors of the massacres and detention camps, this book provides the first in-depth analysis of sexualised forms of violence perpetrated against women and girl victims during this period. It looks at the stories of individual women caught up in the massacres and mass arrests, focusing on their testimonies and their experiences of violence and survival. The book aims not only to redress the lack of scholarly attention but also to provide significant new analysis on the gendered and gendering effects of sexual violence against women and girls in situations of genocidal violence.

Historical Dictionary of Indonesia Routledge

This third edition of Historical Dictionary of Indonesia contains a chronology, an introductory essay, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 900 cross-referenced entries on important personalities, politics, economy, foreign relations, religion, and culture. This book is an excellent access point for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about Indonesia.

Historical Dictionary of Indonesia Critical Human Rights

In the early morning hours of October 1, 1965, a group calling itself the September 30th Movement kidnapped and executed six generals of the Indonesian army, including its highest commander. The group claimed that it was attempting to preempt a coup, but it was quickly defeated as the senior surviving general, Haji Mohammad Suharto, drove the movement's partisans out of Jakarta. Riding the crest of mass violence, Suharto blamed the Communist Party of Indonesia for masterminding the movement and used the emergency as a pretext for gradually eroding President Sukarno's powers and installing himself as a ruler. Imprisoning and killing hundreds of thousands of alleged communists over the next year, Suharto remade the events of October 1, 1965 into the central event of modern Indonesian history and the cornerstone of his thirty-two-year dictatorship. Despite its importance as a trigger for one of the twentieth century's worst cases of mass violence, the September 30th Movement has remained shrouded in uncertainty. Who actually masterminded it? What did they hope to achieve? Why did they fail so miserably? And what was the movement's connection to international Cold War politics? In Pretext for Mass Murder, John Roosa draws on a wealth of new primary source material to suggest a solution to the mystery behind the movement and the enabling myth of Suharto's repressive regime. His book is a remarkable feat of historical investigation. Finalist, Social Sciences Book Award, the International Convention of Asian Scholars
