Un gran viaje en moto a uno de los lugares más remotos del planeta. Acompaña a Ricardo Fité hasta Mongolia en una aventura sin parangón. Edición con fotos y mapa. Un día, el autor vio en Internet un vídeo sobre una loca competición llamada Mongol Rally, que cruza Europa y Asia para acabar en Mongolia. Decidió participar y, para que fuera un reto mayor, lo haría con su antigua Yamaha de 250. Así inició un viaje a Ucrania, Rusia y el corazón de Asia Central hasta la patria de Gengis Kan. Desiertos y aventuras, pero también policías corruptos, tatuadores inmisericordes y chicas pasadas de rosca. Esta es la narración de una emocionante aventura por el Lejano Este del siglo XXI, la nueva frontera. "Libertad, aventura no exenta de riesgo y un gran sentido del humor. Un libro de viajes ameno, divertido y, en ocasiones, inquietante" (Sito Pons, bicampeón del mundo de motociclismo). "Viajero de estos tiempos, el libro de Ricardo te divertirá y ayudará a emprender tu propia ruta" (Emilio Scotto, récord Guinness por el viaje más largo en moto). "La vida sólo se vive una vez, el mundo es para disfrutarlo y la aventura la llevamos dentro por todos nuestros antepasados, que eran aventureros y guerreros. Muy bueno el libro, el documental y la experiencia. Te felicito" (Jordi Arcarons, participante del Rally París-Dakar en 16 ediciones). "Una aventura con mayúsculas, disfrazada de hecho mundano, un viaje como los de antes, perlado de peripecias y situaciones rocambolescas" (Roberto Naveiras, director del programa 'Viajo en moto').

From international bestselling author Arturo Pérez-Reverte comes the fourth adventure of Captain Alatríste in the "series [that] recalls the great adventure novels of Dumas and Scott" (The New York Times). Seville, 1626. After serving with honor at the bloody siege of Breda, Captain Alatríste and his protégé, Íñigo Balboa, accept a risky job involving a dozen swordsmen and mercenaries at their command, a dazzling amount of contraband gold, and a heavily guarded Spanish galleon returning from the West Indies. The job offer comes from the king himself, for at stake is nothing less than the Spanish Crown, and its dominion over the wealth of the Americas. But for Alatríste, a very personal surprise awaits him on that galleon.

and tenses. Say Nothing shows Parks is a quality writer at the top of his form.”—Lee Child “Terrific book. Truly terrific. Tension throughout and tears at the end.”—Sue Grafton Judge Scott Sampson doesn’t brag about having a perfect life, but the evidence is clear: A prestigious job. A loving marriage. A pair of healthy children. Then a phone call begins every parent’s most chilling nightmare. Scott’s six-year-old twins, Sam and Emma, have been taken. The judge must rule exactly as instructed in a drug case he is about to hear. If he refuses, the consequences for the children will be dire. For Scott and his wife, Alison, the kidnapper’s call is only the beginning of a twisting, gut-churning ordeal of blackmail, deceit, and terror. Through it all, they will stop at nothing to get their children back, no matter the cost to themselves...or to each other. “Complications and twists build to an unexpected climax that is both perfect and gut-wrenching.”—Library Journal (starred review) “Grips the reader from the get-go and doesn’t let up until the final twist.”—Associated Press

Cuando Alfred es nombrado embajador en París, su mujer, Fanny, se convertirá en la encargada de manejar los asuntos cotidianos de la embajada. De repente se verá alternando con la aristocracia y lo más granado de la sociedad parisina, dando cócteles y cenas, y contemplando asombrada como cada nimio detalle de su vida es aireado en los periódicos. Por si fuera poco, tendrá que mediar en los asuntos sentimentales de sus amigos y encauzar a sus indómitos hijos, cuyos modernos estilos de vida - uno es teddy boy y otro hippie- no termina de comprender. Además, parece que una crisis diplomática está a punto de estallar, dejando claro que la vida en una embajada es todo menos aburrida. En No se lo digas a Alfred, Nancy Mitford combina personajes nuevos con otros que ya aparecían en A la caza del amor y Amor en clima frío y nos ofrece una despiadada sátira de los círculos parisinos más exclusivos así como de las siempre ambiguas relaciones entre Inglaterra y Francia. Sus mordaces diálogos y su extraordinaria capacidad para modelar personajes le permiten ofrecer al lector una sutil y divertidísima novela. «Mitford derrocha ingenio y sentido del humor.» Fernando Castanedo (El País) «Con higiénica inteligencia, Mitford se ríe de un mundo anclado en valores y gestos de otra época.» Adolfo Torrecilla (La Gaceta de los Negocios) «Una vez leído un libro de Nancy Mitford es imposible escapar al embrujo que su prosa provoca en el degustador de un mundo que acaso ya no existe» Ricardo Menéndez Salmón The King's Gold University of Texas Press Adopting an interdisciplinary approach, this book investigates the style, or 'voice', of English language translations of twentieth century Latin American writing. The style of the different translators is subjected to a close linguistic investigation within their cultural and ideological framework. Mining Memory examines how twentieth-century narratives and films reimagine the self and the nation by representing child and adolescent protagonists and their evolution. The book shows that beyond representing the struggles of individual subjects, narratives of childhood are part of a process of constructing and reconstructing cultural identity. Penguin Young Readers Libro entrañable en el que los autores, abuelas y abuelos educadores, algunos de ellos aún en activo, relatan cuál es su vivencia en su nuevo papel familiar, cómo disfrutaban de él y de la multitud de significados, experiencias y emociones: dejar de ser maestro y convertirse en abuelo, ser maestro y abuelo a la vez, olvidar la docencia y volcarse plenamente en disfrutar con los nietos... Las abuelas y abuelos educadores experimentan todos estos papeles, juntos y por separado, porque en la función de abuelas y abuelos, como en la vida misma: "Cada cual pasa y entrega lo que sabe, lo que tiene y lo que es".

del Nuevo Extremo Recent critically and commercially acclaimed Latin American films such as XXY, Contracorriente, and Plan B create an affective and bodily connection with viewers that elicits in them an emotive and empathic relationship with queer identities. Referring to these films as New Maricón Cinema, Vinodh Venkatesh argues that they represent a distinct break from what he terms Maricón Cinema, or a cinema that deals with sex and gender difference through an ethically and visually disaffected position, exemplified in films such as Fresa y chocolate, No se lo digas a nadie, and El lugar sin límites. Covering feature films from Argentina, Chile, Cuba, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru, the United States, and Venezuela, New Maricón Cinema is the first study to contextualize and analyze recent homo-/trans-/intersexed-themed cinema in Latin America within a broader historical and aesthetic genealogy. Working with theories of affect, circulation, and orientations, Venkatesh examines key scenes in the work of auteurs such as Marco Berger, Javier Fuentes-León, and Julia Solomonoff and in films including Antes que anochezca and Y tu mamá también to show how their use of an affective poetics situates and regenerates viewers in an ethically productive cinematic space. He further demonstrates that New Maricón Cinema has encouraged the production of “gay friendly” commercial films for popular audiences, which reflects wider sociocultural changes regarding gender difference and civil rights that are occurring in Latin America.

Contemporary Peruvian Narrative and Popular Culture Penguin

Viewing contemporary Latin American films through the lens of queer studies reveals that many filmmakers are exploring issues of gender identity and sexual difference, as well as the homophobia that attempts to defeat any challenge to the heterosexual norms of patriarchal culture. In this study of queer issues in Latin American cinema, David William Foster offers highly perceptive queer readings of fourteen key films to demonstrate how these cultural products promote the principles of an antiheterosexist stance while they simultaneously disclose how homophobia enforces the norms of heterosexuality. Foster examines each film in terms of the ideology of its narrative discourse, whether homoerotic desire or a critique of patriarchal heterosexism and its implications for Latin American social life and human rights. His analyses underscore the difficulties involved in constructing a coherent and convincing treatment of the complex issues involved in critiquing the patriarchy from perspectives associated with queer studies. The book will be essential reading for everyone working in queer studies and film studies. The films discussed in this book are: De eso no se habla (I Don't Want to Talk about It) El lugar sin límites (The Place without Limits) Aqueles dois (Those Two) Convivencia (Living Together) Conducta impropia (Improper Conduct) The Disappearance of García Lorca La Virgen de los Sicarios (Our Lady of the Assassins) Doña Herlinda y su hijo (Doña Herlinda and Her Son) No se lo digas a nadie (Don't Tell Anyone) En el paraíso no existe el dolor (There Is No Suffering in Paradise)

A intrusa (The Interloper) Plata quemada (Burnt Money) Afrodita (Aphrodite) Fresa y chocolate (Strawberry and Chocolate)

The city of Buenos Aires has guaranteed all couples, regardless of gender, the right to register civil unions. Mexico City has approved the Cohabitation Law, which grants same-sex couples marital rights identical to those of common-law relationships between men and women. Yet, a gay man was murdered every two days in Latin America in 2005, and Brazil recently led the world in homophobic murders. These facts illustrate the wide disparity in the treatment and rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) populations across the region. The Politics of Sexuality in Latin America presents the first English-language reader on LGBT politics in Latin America. Representing a range of contemporary works by scholars, activists, analysts, and politicians, the chapters address LGBT issues in nations from Cuba to Argentina. In their many findings, two main themes emerge: the struggle for LGBT rights has made significant inroads in the first decade of the twenty-first century (though not in every domain or every region); and the advances made were slow in coming compared to other social movements. The articles uncover the many obstacles that LGBT activists face in establishing new laws and breaking down societal barriers. They identify perhaps the greatest roadblock in Latin American culture as an omnipresent system of "heteronormativity," wherein heterosexuality, patriarchalism, gender hierarchies, and economic structures are deeply rooted in nearly every level of society. Along these lines, the texts explore specific impediments including family dependence, lack of public spaces, job opportunities, religious dictums, personal security, the complicated relationship between leftist political parties and LGBT movements in the region, and the ever-present "closets," which keep LGBT issues out of the public eye. The volume also looks to the future of LGBT activism in Latin America in areas such as globalization, changing demographics, the role of NGOs, and the rise of economic levels and education across societies, which may aid in a greater awareness of LGBT politics and issues. As the editors posit, to be democratic in the truest sense of the word, nations must recognize and address all segments of their populations.
