Story of a Sociopath Litres

Marianela (1878) pertenece a lo que Galdós llamó Novelas de la Primera época (que comprenden obras como Doña Perfecta y Gloria). Partiendo de un caso extraído de un tratado de Psicología (la recuperación de la visión en un ciego congénito), Galdós creó una de sus novelas más famosas. La vida trágica de la muchacha Nela, fea y deforme, enamorada del ciego Pablo a quien sirve de lazarillo, es el hilo conductor sobre el que se entrelazan tres temas: la ceguera y su posible cura, la relación sentimental y la situación socioeconómica. La maestría del escritor canario se demuestra en la articulación narrativa de las oposiciones principales: belleza física y belleza moral; industria y agricultura, el hoy y el ayer; cultura y naturaleza. La relación del ciego con su lazarillo ha quedado como una de las más bellas surgidas de la pluma de Galdós.

Marianela es una novela del escritor español Benito Pérez Galdós publicada en 1878, cerrando el conjunto de sus novelas de tesis. En ella aparecen algunos personajes secundarios que luego serán protagonistas en el ciclo de las novelas españolas contemporáneas. Cuenta la trágica historia de Marianela, una chica pobre y fea, y de Pablo, un ciego de nacimiento que está enamorado de ella. La acción transcurre entre las minas de Socartes, pueblo minero, y zona agrícola, donde vive don Francisco Penáguilas con su hijo Pablo. La vida ha sido generosa con el señor de Penáguilas. Pablo es feliz al lado de , una muchacha que todos llaman la "Nela"; con ella pasea, habla y se deleita. Nela, por su parte, la pobre huérfana que vive con la familia Centeno, menospreciada sólo siente alegría acompañando a Pablo. de tal manera, que Pablo un día le promete casarse con ella. El ciego piensa que Nela debe ser de extraordinaria belleza, expresa su bondad. Pero a las minas de socartes ha llegado el hermano del ingeniero, don Teodoro Golfín, famoso oftalmólogo, y uno de los motivos de su viaje es tratar de curar a Pablo. Don Francisco de Penáguilas espera que el doctor vea a su hijo, pues, aunque ha sido desahuciado por todos los grandes médicos, y que su hijo sea incurable. ¿Por qué la naturaleza al colmarle de bienes materiales le ha de negar lo único que puede hacerle feliz? Precisamente su hermano Manuel y él acaban de heredar de un primo, lo que viene todavía a acrecentar su fortuna. Fortuna que no tendrá finalidad, a no ser que Pablo obtenga el sentido de la vista, en cuyo caso se celebraría su matrimonio con su prima Florentina, muchacha bellísima, hija de Manuel. La operación de Pablo y el éxito del resultado desembocarán en un dramático final. Al final "la Nela" feliz porque Pablo recupera la vista, pero triste porque no desea que Pablo la vea, decide marcharse, el Doctor Golfín la encuentra moribunda y la lleva a la mansión, donde finalmente Pablo la ve y Marianela muere.

Aunt Tula (La tia Tula), published in 1921, is one of the few novels written by Miguel de Unamuno to centre on a female protagonist. It is a vivid, nuanced portrait of the intelligent, wilful and yet vulnerable Tula. Despite having no biological children of her own, the unmarried Tula becomes the primary maternal figure for successive generations of children; some related to her, others not. Her chaste maternity is presented as a complex response to her long-held, self-sacrificing romantic love for her brother-in-law, her antipathy for the submissive role expected of bourgeois married women, and Tula's fear of her own physicality. Julia Biggane's translation captures the accessibility of style and richness of literary substance in the original, and the introduction equips the reader with an understanding of the text's wider material contexts and historical significance. Of special interest is the novel's representation of womanhood and maternity, itself inflected by wider social changes in countries across Western Europe and Russia during the first two decades of the 20th century.

Benito Pérez Galdós (May 10, 1843 - January 4, 1920) was a Spanish realist novelist. Some authorities consider him second only to Cervantes in stature as a Spanish novelist. He was the leading literary figure in 19th century Spain. Galdós was a prolific writer, publishing 31 novels, 46 Episodios Nacionales (National Episodes), 23 plays, and the equivalent of 20 volumes of shorter fiction, journalism and other writings. He remains popular in Spain, and is considered as equal to Dickens, Balzac and Tolstoy. As recently as 1950, few of Galdós's works were available translated to English, although he has slowly become popular in the Anglophone world. While his plays are generally considered to be less successful than his novels, Realidad (1892) is important in the history of realism in the Spanish theatre.

Comedia En Cuatro Actos Graphic Arts Books

Marianela nos cuenta la trágica vida de la joven Nela, huérfana de quince años, pobre, fea y deforme, enamorada de Pablo, de familia adinerada, hermoso joven de diecinueve años, dotado de todas las perfecciones posibles, pero ciego. Estas dos criaturas se perfeccionan mutuamente. Pablo ve con los ojos de Marianela y ésta se siente hermosa en el mundo interior de Pablo... Realista en ocasiones, como cuando nos muestra los problemas sociales de Socartes, romántica otras, esta novela es una de las obras más conocidas de Benito Pérez Galdós (1843-1920). Su lectura siempre ha despertado un gran interés entre los jóvenes y, sin duda, es un buen modo de aproximarse al mundo galdosiano.

Es una obra cuyo argumento se crea mediante los desvaríos rutinarios y las travesuras mentales por parte del narrador. A lo largo de la obra nos cuenta una larga y tortuosa serie de sucesos que pasaron al narrador mientras hacía un recado un día normal en Madrid. Estos sucesos, consiguen formar una historia inteligible y acogedora para el narrador que los cuenta. Pero más importante que esto es el hecho de que dentro de la obra, no existe un argumento en si, es decir en la realidad del narrador, sino la apariencia de uno en los extremos de su curiosidad y confusión. La novela del tranvía destaca por su originalidad en el desarrollo de la trama, que capta al lector hasta el final. La historia comenzó por un relato de verdad que le contó al narrador un conocido suyo, Dionisio Cascajares de la Vallina, quien era un hombre entremetido y amigo de todo el mundo. Aunque no le interesaba mucho la historia, que trataba de una condesa y su mayordomo, escuchó hasta que Cascajares tuvo que bajarse del coche. Después que pasó un tiempo el narrador notó en un trozo de periódico que servía como envoltorio para los libros que llevaba los nombres de unos tanto personajes, estando entre éstos una condesa y otros más que, por increíble suerte, parecían ser los mismos del relato recién contado de Cascajares. Aunque no le interesó la primera vez, la segunda le provocó bastante interés y leyó hasta donde se había desgarrado la página, fijándose en todos los detalles, el más notable de estos siendo el copiar la letra de la Condesa en una carta cuyo destino todavía no se reveló por el estado del periódico usado

Written by Benito Perez Galdos, one of Spain's best kept literary secrets and arguably the greatest Spanish author since Cervantes, THAT BRINGAS WOMAN(1884)is part of Galdos's panoramic series of novels about Madrid social life and is also indirectly, a novel about the revolution in Spain.Focusing upon the Bringas household in a manner reminiscent of, and probably influenced by, Zola, it offers a shrewd and none too flattering analysis of feminine psychology and an intimate portrait of marriage.However, unlike Flaubert, Tolstoy and Alas, the other great novelists of adultery of his day, Galdos's view of the subject and its consequences is both hard headed and humorous rather th

Saragossa: A Story of Spanish Valor (1899) is a novel by Benito Pérez Galdós. Published at the height of Pérez Galdós' career, Saragossa: A Story of Spanish Valor is the sixth in of 46 historical novels in the author's monumental, career spanning series of National Episodes. Set during the bloody naval battle of Trafalgar in 1805, Pérez Galdós' novel is a story of heroism, growth, and adventure that manages to find humanity in history. "It was, I believe, the evening of the eighteenth when we saw Saragossa in the distance. As we entered by the Puerta de Sancho we heard the clock in the Torre Nueva strike ten. We were in an extremely pitiful condition as to food and clothing. The long journey we had made [...], climbing mountains, fording rivers, making short cuts until we arrived at the high road of Gallur and Alagon, had left us quite used up, worn out, and ill with fatigue." Having survived the disastrous defeat of the Spanish Armada at Trafalgar by the British Royal Navy, Gabriel de Araceli makes his way to Saragossa. There, he must fight for his life and the future of his nation as the army of Napoleon Bonaparte lays siege to the city. Painstakingly researched by its author, Saragossa: A Story of Spanish Valor is a detailed fictional retelling of one history's most iconic conflicts. With a beautifully designed cover and professionally typeset manuscript, this edition of Benito Pérez Galdós's Saragossa: A Story of Spanish Valor is a classic of Spanish literature reimaged for modern readers.

Benito Perez Galdos is often called the Spanish Charles Dickens or the Spanish Balzac, and is one of the great European nineteenth-century novelists. Misericordia (1897) is set among the Madrid poor, and to give his novel authenticity Galdos spent many months studying the lives of the destitute and of professional beggars. The theme of the novel is the problem of goodness, embodied in the servant Benina, whose entire life is a struggle to keep the middle-class family she works for from sliding into poverty. Crushed by poverty or the weight of their pretensions, the high and low life of 19th century Madrid provides the cast for this enjoyably bleak portrait of a family's decline, fall and recovery. The widow Dona Francisca, reduced from salon to slum, is protected by her servant Benita, who begs and barter in a daily battle with starvation and her mistress's pride. When a sudden inheritance enriches the old crowd, Benita is cast aside. Galdos's Spain teems with saints and sinners, corrupted as much by poverty as by wealth. -- The Sunday Times

I'm scum. Yes, I always have been. . . . I know what I did, and what I should have done. A spellbinding and provocative psychological thriller that shows just how far a man will go to win the most enduring and ruthless of games: the game of power. Raised in the upper echelons of elite New York society, Thomas Spencer has never wanted for much. But much is hardly enough for a man whose greatest satisfaction lies in shattering the happiness of others. Thomas, the black sheep of his family, harbors only resentment toward those closest to him for what they have more of: good looks, good cheer, good social graces. But what Thomas may lack in charm, he makes up for in cunning. And it is this that will serve him best when he trades in his glittering world of privilege for a chance to claw his way to the top—on his own terms, and at any cost. As Thomas achieves fame and success as an ad man, he becomes ever more deeply entrenched in an insidious underworld of media, politics, and women, and an astonishing picture emerges of a complex, destructive personality who will stop at nothing to get what he wants. Shameless and electrifying, Story of a Sociopath illuminates the true nature of power through the mind of a master psychological manipulator.

Marianela es una novela del escritor español Benito Pérez Galdós publicada en 1878, cerrando el conjunto de sus novelas de tesis. En ella aparecen algunos personajes secundarios que luego serán protagonistas en el ciclo de las novelas españolas contemporáneas. Marianela es una de las muchas obras que muestran la grandeza de espíritu del género humano, no obstante pocas logran realizar el profuso escrutinio que realiza Galdós en el corazón de sus personajes. Marianela, joven huérfana y de pobres atributos físicos, sirve de lazarillo de Pablo, joven ciego y de cómoda posición social, quien se enamora de la huérfana. Pablo, que sólo conocía el mundo a través de las descripciones que le hacía Nela y de las abundantes lecturas que le hacía su padre y que él recibía con avidez, jura a Nela que sus sentimientos hacia ella serán los mismos. Bajo la promesa de una vida juntos, Nela se entrega a la construcción de las más candidas fantasías de vivir a su lado.
