 The book is composed of 49 short chapters that develop classical monastic themes of hospitality, poverty, celibacy, and obedience, exploring what these might mean to men and women living at the end of the millennium.

 St. John the Evangelist (6 A.D. - 99 A.D.) was the youngest of the Twelve Disciples. At the Last Supper, he was the one who was permitted to lay his head on Jesus' chest, and he was the only disciple who accompanied Jesus to the Cross at Calvary. As an Apostle he performed miracles, wrote the Gospel of John, three epistle letters, and the Apocalypse (also known as the Revelation of John or the Book of Revelations.) St. John the Evangelist is one of the prominent saints in all of Christendom. In the Catholic Church he is the patron saint of writers, booksellers, art dealers, printers, and friendships. This prayer journal contains beautiful illustrations and a treasury of information to help increase your devotion: two biographies of St. John; two novenas, including a Biblical Novena; a collection of intercessory prayers; quotes from Scripture and reflections; and 75 lined pages for you to record your own notes and prayer intentions.

 The director of the Navarre Bible project at the University of Navarre in Spain brings together his thoughts on one of the most intriguing Gospel writers, St. John. St. John has been called "the theologian" because of the theological depth of his writing. He is often symbolically represented as an eagle because his writings soar to the heights of the divinity just as the eagle soars upward to the sun. If the Gospels are "the heart of all of Scripture," and therefore the object of special veneration and study, then the Gospel of St. John deserves special attention as the summit of the four.

 Kingdom of Heaven on the earth. Nicene, Tridentine, and Vatican Christianity are identical. Therefore, the Catholic Hierarchy of this day Clasps the hand of St. John, on whose head rested the hand of our Lord Jesus Christ; transmitting the electric current of truth and power to our own bishops and our sovereign pontiff, from whom we receive the light and grace of Christianity. We are in the most immediate contact with St. John, because he is the last of the apostles, and completed the New Testament, as Evangelist and Prophet, by his Gospel, Epistles, and Apocalypse, giving us the last words of inspiration, and closing the book of divine revelation.  The Society of St John the Evangelist, otherwise known as the Cowley Fathers, was the first men's religious order to be founded in the Church of England since the Reformation, as a result of the spread and influence of the Oxford Movement and its Anglo-Catholic spirituality in the 19th century. Established in Oxford in 1866, its charismatic founder, Richard Meux Benson worked closely with American priests and just four years later a congregation was founded in Massachusetts that flourishes to this day. The charisma of the order embraced high regard of theology with practical service, fostered by an emphasis on prayer and personal holiness. Cowley, a poor and rapidly expanding village on the outskirts of Oxford, provided ample opportunity for service. At its height, the English congregation had houses in Oxford (now St Stephen's House) and Westminster where figures such as C S Lewis sought spiritual direction. Now no longer operating as a community in Britain, this definitive and comprehensive history records its significant contribution to Anglicanism then and now.
