While running away from home and an unwanted marriage, a thirteen-year-old Eskimo girl becomes lost on the North Slope of Alaska and is befriended by a wolf pack.

Gerechtigkeit für Igel Taylor & Francis

It is not difficult to argue that the social sciences are in a period of transition. Our day-to-day lives have been marked by uncertainty as our social lives have vacillated wildly between highs and lows, tensions between fellow citizens have heightened along ideological fault lines, and educators have been placed squarely at the center of public discourses about what—and how—we should be teaching. By any measure, we are living in a time where every moment seems to be rife with high stakes realities that must be navigated. Ladson-Billings (2020) called on educators to reimagine education and contest the notion of a “return to normal.” In the current highly polarized context where we see multiple competing narratives, rather than promoting a “return to normal” or “business as usual” approach, we argue that educators must use the lessons of the last two years, as well as draw on what we have learned from history and the social sciences. By asking ourselves how we might interrogate and inform current social landscapes and the challenges that arise from them, we have the opportunity to take leadership in fostering innovation, building solidarity, and re-imagining the teaching and learning of history and the social sciences. We recognize that humans live in multiple complex communities that include intersectional identities; relationships with power, agency, and discourses; and lived realities that are as unique as they are divergent. Consequently, the task of educators, and the goal of this volume, is to provide a clarion voice to a dynamic, relational, and undeniably human social world.

Within the most recent discussion on smart cities and the way this vision is affecting urban changes and dynamics, this book explores the interplay between planning and design both at the level of the design and planning domains' theories and practices. Urban transformation is widely recognized as a complex phenomenon, rich in uncertainty. It is the unpredictable consequence of complex interplay between urban forces (both top-down or bottom-up), urban resources (spatial, social, economic and infrastructural as well as political or cognitive) and transformation opportunities (endogenous or exogenous). The recent attention to Urban Living Lab and Smart City initiatives is disclosing a promising bridge between the micro-scale environments, with the dynamics of such forces and resources, and the urban governance mechanisms. This bridge is represented by those urban collaborative environments, where processes of smart service co-design take place through dialogic interaction with and among citizens within a situated and cultural-specific frame.

Im zweiten Band seiner Phänomenologie der Schuld analysiert Ricoeur die Symbolsprache, mit der der Mensch Stellung zum Bösen nimmt. Dabei geht er drei grossen Ursymbolen nach: Makel, Sünde und Schuld. Der Weg der Untersuchung führt durch die primitiven Religionen, durch die griechische und biblische Rechtsauffassung und endet in der Sackgasse des "skrupulösen Gewissens" der Pharisäer. In einem weiteren Teil des Buches kommt eine bestimmte "Mythenreihe" zu Wort, die einer typologischen Ordnung folgt: das Schöpfungs-drama, der böse Gott der Tragik, der Adamsmythos und der Mythos der verbannten Seele. Diese Hermeneutik der Mythen weist in die Richtung einer neuen Philosophie, die die Symbole, jenseits einer transzendentalen Deduktion, in den Rang von Existentialbegriffen erhebt.

Does Collective Impact Work? C.H.Beck

The way American communities address the issue of low literacy has changed with the development of literacy coalitions. The authors examine in detail how this happened and explore potential emerging best practices for the collective impact approach to community change.

For reasons of effectiveness, efficiency and equity, Australian law reform should be planned carefully. Academics can and should take the lead in this process. This book collects over 50 discrete law reform recommendations, encapsulated in short, digestible essays written by leading Australian scholars. It emerges from a major conference held at The Australian National University in 2016, which featured intensive discussion among participants from government, practice and the academy. The book is intended to serve as a national focal point for Australian legal innovation. It is divided into six main parts: commercial and corporate law, criminal law and evidence, environmental law, private law, public law, and legal practice and legal education. In addition, Indigenous perspectives on law reform are embedded throughout each part. This collective work—the first of its kind—will be of value to policy makers, media, law reform agencies, academics, practitioners and the judiciary. It provides a bird's eye view of the current state and the future of law reform in Australia.

This book addresses important and under-researched issues such as, the role of young people in democratization processes, the role of new democracies in sharing their transition experience, and the effectiveness of aid. A major theme of the book is democracy assistance efforts by the NGOs from Central and Eastern Europe to support young people in Eastern Europe, the Western Balkans, and Central Asia. It examines this theme in a comparative perspective and with a deeper analysis of reasons and ways to support young people, the need to support them and the effectiveness of these efforts. Bringing together a wide range of material on democracy assistance of Central and Eastern European countries that includes surveying the providers and beneficiaries of aid and looking for better methods of impact evaluation, the book advances a framework for assessing democracy assistance efforts. It concludes with implications of the impact of democracy assistance on young people and democracy diffusion from Central and Eastern European democracies to other countries. This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of democracy, democratization, Central and Eastern Europe, Post-Soviet studies, and European and Comparative Politics, as well as for practitioners (donors, NGOs) who want to know what works best, and why and when in aid provision.

Arguing for life, moral and values education as a bedrock for the original goals of school education, this monograph explores how life and values education is conceptualised and imparted in Greater China. Under a globalized, transnational, and technological world, where there has been an increase in people's mobility, in information and cultural exchanges, there is also a growing emphasis on personal and professional ethics. Against this context, life, moral and values education has gained attention for its impact on shaping students' characters as future citizens. However, the cultivation of these values is made deeply diversified and complex by varying interpretations of "life education" and "values education" across societies, given that different societies are influenced by different socio-cultural traditions, educational ideologies and religious beliefs. The means and approaches towards life education also vary vastly from formal school subjects, school-based programmes as well as teachers and peers' role modelling, community services, extra-curricular activities, school discipline, charity work, pastoral care, and school ethos. Recognising this inherent diversity and complexity in the approach to and the dissemination of life education, the contributors to this volume survey the practice of life education in Greater China so far, suggesting that life education is most effective when it is "diversified, dynamic and developmental across contexts". This book will provide the opportunity for engaging in important and serious debates about the future and the values that will underpin it and will prove of special interest to scholars and practitioners working on education policies curriculum development and teacher education in Greater China.

Zu politischen Prozessen gehört der Ein- und Ausschluss von Gruppen. Das Projekt Living Rooms erforscht, wie die

Mobilisierung von Zugehörigkeit in der Alltagskultur in Wiener Gemeindebauten funktioniert. Die hier vorgestellten Erkenntnisse verknüpfen auf einzigartige Weise künstlerische und sozialwissenschaftliche Forschung. Veranschaulicht werden sie durch grafisch gestaltete Schlaglichter und einen Bildessay. Renommierete Gastautoren und Interviews zur künstlerischen Forschung und zum medialen Bild des Gemeindebaus ergänzen die Ergebnisse.

Research, Development, and Innovation in Asia Pacific Higher Education critically examines recent policies and practices adopted by governments and universities in Asia Pacific in promoting research and development, innovation, and entrepreneurial activities between the universities, industry and business. Critical reflections upon the changing relationship among these stakeholders are offered, with comparative perspectives and international insights into how universities in Asia Pacific have handled the growing pressure for top university rankings and keen competition in the knowledge-based economy. Achieving Differentiated Learning Routledge

Music lives where people live. Historically, music study has centred on the conservatory, which privileges the study of the Western European canon and Western European practice. The Eurocentric way music has been studied has excluded communities that are considered to be marginalized in one or more ways despite that the majority of human experiences with music is found outside of that realm. Community music has emerged as a counter-narrative to the hegemonic music canon: it seeks to increase the participation of those living on the boundaries. Community Music at the Boundaries explores music and music-making on those edges. “The real power of community music,” writes Roger Mantie in the foreword, “lies not in the fiction of trying to eliminate boundaries (or pretending they don’t exist), but in embracing the challenge of ‘walking’ them.” Contributions from scholars and researchers, music practitioners, and administrators examine the intersection of music and communities in a variety of music-making forms: ensembles, university and police choirs, bands, prison performing groups, youth music groups, instrument classes, symphonies, drum circles, and musical direction and performance. Some of the topics explored in the volume include education and change, music and Indigenous communities, health and wellness, music by incarcerated persons, and cultural identity. By shining a light on boundaries, this volume provides a wealth of international perspectives and knowledge about the ways that music enhances lives.

Capstones have been a part of higher education curriculum for over two centuries, with the goal of integrating student learning to cap off their undergraduate experience. In practice, capstones are most often delivered as a course or include a significant project that addresses a problem or contributes new knowledge. This edited collection draws on multi-year, multi-institutional, and mixed-methods studies to inform the development of best practices for cultivating capstones at a variety of higher education institutions. The book is divided into three parts: Part

One offers typographies of capstones, illustrating the diversity of experiences included in this high-impact practice while also identifying essential characteristics that contribute to high-quality culminating experiences for students. Part Two shares specific culminating experiences with examples from multiple institutions and strategies for adapting them for readers’ own campus contexts. Part Three offers research-informed strategies for professional development to support implementation of high-quality student learning experiences across a variety of campus contexts. Cultivating Capstones is an essential resource for faculty who teach or direct disciplinary or interdisciplinary capstone experiences, as well as for faculty developers and administrators seeking ways to offer high-quality, high-impact learning experiences for diverse student populations. Placing Latin America offers a thematic approach to the study of the diverse geographies of a globalizing region. This comprehensive text focuses on the dynamic connections between people, places, and environments rather than on predefined notions about the region. The book’s well-rounded and accessible analysis includes discussions of borders and migration, transnationalism and globalization, urbanization and landscapes of cities, the connections between economic development and political change, the physical environment and human-environmental interactions, and natural resources in the context of a global economy. The authors also explore social and cultural themes such as the illegal drug trade, social movements, tourism, and children and young people. Providing a nuanced and clear perspective, this book will be an invaluable guide for all those interested in the politics, economy, and society of a rapidly changing continent.

»Der Fuchs weiß viele Dinge, aber der Igel weiß eine große Sache.« Der griechische Dichter Archilochos hat diesen Satz formuliert, Isaiah Berlin hat ihn mit seinem Tolstoi-Essay berühmt gemacht. Aber was ist diese »eine große Sache«? Ronald Dworkin liefert eine Antwort: Es sind Werte in all ihren Erscheinungsformen. Wenn wir verstehen wollen, was Wahrheit und Schönheit sind, was dem Leben Sinn verleiht, was die Moral fordert und die Gerechtigkeit verlangt, so müssen wir der Spur jener moralischen Einstellungen nachgehen, die menschliches Denken, Fühlen und Handeln durchdringen und zu einer Einheit formen. »Gerechtigkeit für Igel« ist eines jener Bücher, wie es sie in Zeiten der Füchse – der Spezialisten und Skeptiker – immer seltener gibt: eines, das aus einem einzigen Prinzip eine ganze Welt erklären und zugleich Orientierung geben möchte.

Dies ist ein Buch über uns. Es ist ein Buch über Sie, Ihre Kinder, Ihre Eltern, Ihre Freunde. Es geht um jeden Einzelnen von uns. Und um unser Versagen. Unser Versagen als Individuen, das Versagen der Wirtschaft und das unserer Politiker. Es geht um den beispiellosen Notfall planetarischen Ausmaßes, den wir selbst geschaffen haben. Es geht um unsere Zukunft. 2013 prophezeite Stephen Emmott den Kollaps unserer Welt: Rohstoffmangel, Klimakrise, und bald sind wir zehn Milliarden. Eine Prophezeiung, die von Jahr zu Jahr realistischer wird und jetzt Millionen Menschen weltweit zum Demonstrieren auf die Straße treibt. Zehn Milliarden ist zum Buch einer Bewegung geworden und erscheint nun in erweiterter Neuauflage.

Die Idee der Gerechtigkeit Suhrkamp Verlag

Es gibt viele von uns in England, die das Verbrechen, das König Leopold von Belgien und seine Anhänger im Congo begangen haben, als das größte betrachten, das jemals in der Menschheitsgeschichte begangen wurde. Ich selber bin ebenfalls von dieser Ansicht zutiefst überzeugt. Es gab früher großen Landraub wie den durch die Normannen in England oder den der Engländer in Irland. Es gab Massaker an der Bevölkerung wie den durch die Spanier an den Südamerikanern oder den der Türken an den unterworfenen Völkern. Aber noch nie zuvor gab es Landraub und Massaker, die unter dem Deckmantel der Philanthropie und aus niedrigsten kommerziellen Motiven durchgeführt wurden. Es sind diese Grausamkeit und diese abgrundtiefe Heuchelei, die dieses Verbrechen so entsetzlich und beispiellos machen. Die Zeugen des Verbrechens kommen aus allen Herrenländern, so daß ein Irrtum bezüglich der Fakten unmöglich ist. Da sind die britischen Konsuln Casement, Thesiger, Mitchell und Armstrong, die alle in ihrer offiziellen Eigenschaft die Fakten in allen Einzelheiten beschreiben. Es gibt Franzosen wie Pierre Mille und Félicien Challaye, die beide zu diesem Thema Bücher geschrieben haben. Und da sind Missionare aus vielen Erdteilen. Es gibt das deutliche Vorgehen der italienischen Regierung, die sich weigerte, italienische Offiziere weiterhin für eine derartige Henkersarbeit abzustellen, und es gibt den Bericht der belgischen Kommission, deren Beweise unterdrückt wurden, weil sie für die Veröffentlichung zu schrecklich waren. Schließlich gibt es die unbestechlichen Beweise der Photographie. Eine Prüfung all dieser Informationsquellen wird zeigen, daß der menschliche Einfallsreichtum keine groteskere, obszönere oder grausamere Folter erfinden kann als die, welche gegen diese harmlosen und hilflosen Menschen angewendet wurde.
