This book about 'How Mum's Death Sparked Off Thoughts of Eternal Life', is a fast moving narrative of how the death of a woman who was described as a virtuous woman by her community and the wider community, triggered thoughts of eternal life in many people, particularly the author herself. The author, Tsitsi Dorcas Jongwe is a daughter of an Anglican Cleric and has had wide experience of practical Christian spirituality in a family of a parish Priest, Reverend Canon Lazarus Muyambi and wife Irene Neddie Muyambi of the Anglican Diocese of Central Zimbabwe. Tsitsi is moved to a deeper reflection about eternal life and its meaning after the death of her mother on 21st of November 2016. She provides a wonderful, clear and helpful reflection on the subject of life after death and eternal life. Tsitsi articulates a true and unique life of Neddie, the virtuous woman of Zimbabwe in Africa; whose clear hope and belief in eternal life was the strong source of inspiration for many. The book further provokes thoughts about modern and ancient Christian spirituality in preparation for the unavoidable eternal life. Critical theological and dogmatic concepts of the purgatory, limbo, resurrection, heaven, hades, hell, Judgment, paradise and many others are explored in detail. There is greater clarity on the relationship between the living and the dead for the avoidance of syncretism and propagation of pure and clean Christian spirituality. The greater fears of the uncertain relations between the dead and the living are well discussed and clearly explained, at least from scriptural experience. Rev. Father Albert Mvundla Ncube

If you're curious about life after death, What is Eternity? Christian Perspectives Regarding Eternal Life will help you understand this often complex and challenging topic. Author Donald A. Noffsinger writes from a Christian perspective, but also includes the various beliefs on eternal life from Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, Judaism, Humanism, Deism, Mormonism, Jehovah's Witnesses, Scientology, and other leading world religions. Noffsinger compares the beliefs by the God of Abraham Religions: Judaism, Islam and Christianity, and explores the various references to eternal life made by Jesus Christ during his time here on Earth. What is Eternity? also delves into the teachings of the Apostle Paul and suggests that we can learn from people who have had "near death" experiences. Along with a discussion of heavenly rewards and other concepts, Noffsinger tackles the difficult issue of purgatory, instructs how to preserve your body for early resurrection, and illuminates what the Old Testament says about eternity. Further your knowledge about eternal life with the easy-to-understand look at the foundations of Christianity.

Many Christians today celebrate many Religious ceremonies without having an understanding of what the ceremonies they celebrate entail. Were it not for a seasonal celebration of sort, many Christians could attend Church services for one whole year without listening to one single message on the death and resurrection of Christ which form the core of our Christian faith. Had Christ not died and resurrected, we will be exactly like any other religious sect or organization but alas, the empty tomb is there to prove that because he lives, we have hope that we too shall live."And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins" 1 Cor. 15:17 After his death and resurrection, in order not to make known the manifestation of God's power, Matthew 28:12-15 state that money was given to the soldiers to scuttle the resurrection story but they failed! Till today, a lot of messages still go on even from several pulpits, with focus on money matters, relegating resurrection matters! This is an error. The resurrection story and the benefits of the resurrection ought to be on the forefront of all messages. This book exposes the benefits of the resurrection to everybody who will decide to believe and appropriate what Jesus has done. 1. We have redemption through his blood. "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" Colossians 1:14. 2. As we bear witness like the Apostles, to his resurrection, the power of his resurrection manifests in our lives. 3. The resurrection is our hope of eternal life. 4. The resurrection shows us that there is no impossibility with God as he is the one that calls non-existent things into existence and quickens or gives life to everything that may be dead even in our lives. 5. The power of his resurrection is the greatest power in the universe. This power is backing us therefore, we have nothing to fear in any way. 6. The resurrection has placed Christ far above principalities and powers. In him, we too have been placed far above principalities and powers. The implication is that we can no longer afford to cower under them in fear. When you are positionally above someone, they take orders from you not the other way round. You must continue to enforce your superior position over them and not allow them mess around your life. 7. The death and resurrection of Jesus Christ resulted in his exaltation - he has the highest name in heaven, earth and beneath the earth. "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen" Matthew 28:18-20 Jesus, the one who has the greatest name and the one to whom all power and authority in heaven, earth and beneath the earth belong to has sent us all on an assignment. He did not leave us alone; he says he is with us till the end of the world. What a benefit to know that you have the authority of the universe behind you. There is no limitation of any sort. By his death and resurrection, all authority given to us has been consolidated. You can make pronouncements and declarations in his name and see them come to pass. Hallelujah!8. "He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil" 1 John 3:8 He came to destroy the works of the devil and the devil himself. Every activity of satan stands destroyed in your life. You are now in charge, there is nothing to fear. Don't miss this book, buy your copy now!

The Newtonian concept of time has been changed by Einsteinian insight. Yet the Einsteinian world view might make it difficult to appreciate traditional concepts of eschatology, like heaven and hell, death and immortality, life after death and resurrection, last day and final judgments, because these expressions presuppose a pre-Einsteinian view of the universe. Since theology cannot remain unaffected by the new research in concepts of time, Eternity and Eternal Life tries to express the eschatological faith of the Church by using the time language of our age. To achieve this it provides an overview on the research in the nature of time done in geology, cosmology, physics, biology, psychology, sociology, history and philosophy and proposes a notion of time for “timely” Christology and for “timely” eschatology. By using the singularity event as literary form, Horvath scrutinizes how Christ’s time can lead to the times of all existing realities, through death to “eternity.”

This is a pioneering work, one that needs to be tested in the community of interested readers. It is a communal search for an understanding of life, death and eternal life, not only in the light of abstract ideas and cultural linguistic doctrines in the world of religions, but also in the light of science and especially of a person as the horizon of understanding for both time and eternity. Christ as the eschatological union of time and eternity becomes the work’s unifying focus and its paradigm, which solves recognized problems and opens our minds to new ones.

What awaits us after death? Flora Wuellner brings her deep wisdom and a lifetime of study, reflection, observation, and spiritual direction to shed light on what Jesus revealed about eternal life. Her writing offers hope and comfort to those who might be troubled by mixed messages about the afterlife from church or who are simply wounded from misunderstandings on the subject. Each chapter opens with a quotation from Jesus and develops the implications of those words, and closes with a guided meditation.

The certain prospect of death is frightening to many and unsettling to most. We know we must die; yet, we do everything we can to keep it at bay. Admittedly, it is not only the separation from loved ones that scares us, but the mystery of the unknown. What if the other side isn't as mysterious as you think? In fact, what is in the great beyond? Do you want the answer to death and have hope beyond the grave? These poems of comfort, hope, and inspiration give a biblical perspective on life, death, heaven, hell, and what happens when you cross over. They will answer your questions, inspire you to live abundantly, and give you courage to face death when it comes. As you read, be prepared to confront reality, stimulate your mind, and be enlightened by truth.

Is a person born with an immortal soul, or do the saved put on immortality at the resurrection? This is one of the most important questions of all time. It has more influence on our conception of our nature, our view of life in this world, and life after death, the nature of God, than any other question. Your whole life is determined by what you believe about your soul. In Resurrection and Immortality, William Robert West shows how the doctrine of unconditional immortality and the resurrection are contradictory to each other. One or the other must be chosen, and therefore both cannot be true. Christ taught the resurrection. It is our only hope of life after death, not having an immortal, never-dying soul. An undead soul cannot be raised at the second coming of Christ. Learn how our preconceived notions have got it all wrong and West dives back into the Bible to uncover the truth so many of us have never known.

This book offers a multifaceted exploration of death and the possibilities for an afterlife. By incorporating a variety of approaches to these subjects, it provides a unique framework for extending and reshaping enduring philosophical debates around human existence up to and after death. Featuring original essays from a diverse group of international scholars, the book is arranged in four main sections. Firstly, it addresses how death is or should be experienced, engaging with topics such as near-death experiences, continuing bonds with the deceased, and attitudes toward dying. Secondly, it looks at surviving death, addressing the metaphysics of human persons, the nature of time, the nature of the true self, and the nature of the divine. It then evaluates the value of mortality and immortality, drawing upon the resources of the history of philosophy, meta-analysis of contemporary debates, and the analogy between individual death and species extinction. Finally, it explores what an eternal life might be like, examining the place of selflessness, embodiment, and racial identity in such a life. This volume allows for a variety of philosophical and theological perspectives to be brought to bear on the end of life and what might be beyond. As such, it will be a fascinating resource for scholars in the philosophy of religion, theology, and death studies.

In his acclaimed books, renowned writer, speaker, and philosophy professor Dallas Willard explored the nature of Christian life in God's Kingdom. Yet one topic remained undisclosed: Willard's understanding of heaven and eternal life. In the months before his death, Willard engaged in moving and insightful conversations about the meaning of life and the life to come with close friend and theologian Gary Black Jr. These inspiring dialogues were steeped in biblical theology as well as practical wisdom grounded in the here-and-now. In Preparing for Heaven Black reveals not only Willard's profound and liberating vision of life after death, he also deftly unpacks the implications these realities hold for our lives today. Black shows how Willard understood our mortal lives as preparation for what comes next—that death is not the end of one life and the beginning of another, but rather a transition through which we continue the transformational work begun on Earth. Informative, challenging, and poignant, Willard and Black's conversations and insights challenge us to reconsider our beliefs—that perhaps the line separating the afterlife from this life is not as absolute as we think, and that there is work to be done both now and in the glorious life to come. As a result we will find that our faith is more vibrant—and eternal—than we have dared to imagine.

Transition, Deathbed's Compelling Evidence of Life After Death is the real-life experiences of dying patients, primarily in a hospice setting. These experiences are measured for accuracy through the scientific method. Most importantly, these experiences are validated by biblical information. Information and events which fail testing against biblical standards are not considered evidence of eternal life. The result is a fascinating, life-changing book, presenting these facts: There is life after death, and there are only two destination choices; life in heaven through Jesus, or life in hell apart from Jesus. The author urges you to choose wisely.

How do you help someone, even yourself, prepare for death and embrace the hope of Heaven? Finally, here is a Biblical resource that addresses our mortality and provides insight for anyone close to dying. When we come to the end of our earthly life, we need hope and the assurance of eternal life. Fred Hennes lays out the Biblical teaching of Heaven and Hell and the choices we are offered to determine our destiny. Clarity and knowledge help remove anxiety as we face death and anticipate Paradise. Choosing Heaven adds certainty to our understanding of what happens to us after we die. This is a must-read book for anyone contemplating their mortality. The material written is simple and clear so that all may understand.

Rom.12:2, I beseech or beg you by the mercies of God that you present your bodies a living sacrifice holy and acceptable unto God which is your reasonable service. You'll never make eternal life unless you have this eternal life and eternal fire insurance which is Jesus Christ. Now's your planning and preparation time while you are living for after death it will be too late. Jesus Christ is the only insurance we have and it's unlike any other insurance policy for it can't be canceled unless we cancel it ourselves. You must be born again be faithful unto him and endure to the end in Him. He will not walk away from you but you can walk away from Him. If you choose to walk away from Him and be unfaithful and follow Him then you cancel your insurance policy. Sin will cause you to lose your eternal life and fire insurance with Jesus Christ.

Rom.6:23 the wages of sin is death. The gift of God is eternal life and His Son Jesus Christ is your insurance policy for He is your salvation and your keeper. You can't purchase this policy for Jesus paid for it when He gave His life on the cross. You can have it for the asking Him to come into your heart and life and be your Lord and Savior, believe, trust and follow Him to the end. It is a free gift to all who will accept it. I am a born again believer and my greatest desire is to please God. I praise Him for calling me and keeping me through all of the trials I've encountered. I have a made up mind and my eyes are fixed on Him. I'm looking for Jesus to come any day now. ARE YOU READY?

In this cross-cultural, interdisciplinary study, John Hick draws upon major world religions, as well as biology, psychology, parapsychology, anthropology, and philosophy, to explore the mystery of death. He argues that scientific and philosophical objections to the idea of survival after death can be challenged, and he claims that human inadequacy in facing suffering supports the basic religious argument for immortality. A Resurrection to Immortality Henry Miranda

Traces the development of the idea of eternal life as it changed to one of personal survival, through modern influences such as Marx, Freud, the search for the historical Jesus, and Vatican II, to today's thinking that we begin the afterlife now by currently working to build up the Kingdom of Heaven here on earth. The book takes a historical approach first, then considers biblical studies and apocalyptic questions, then takes on "popular questions" such as "Is there sex in heaven?"

spend their lives preparing for the passage of death. Best-selling French author Nicolas Diat set out to find what their deaths can reveal about the greatest mystery faced by everyone—the end of life. How to die? How to respond to our fear of death? To answer these and other questions, Diat travelled to eight European monasteries including Solesmes Abbey and the Grande Chartreuse. Through extraordinary interviews with monks, he learned that their death experiences are varied and unique, with elements of peace, pain, humility, sorrow, and joy. These monks have the same fears, torments, and sorrows as everyone else, Diat discovered. What is exemplary about them is their humility and simplicity. When death approaches, and its hand reveals its strength, they are like happy and naïve children who wait with impatience to open a gift. They have complete confidence in the mercy of God.

Life After Death UrimBooks

THERE ARE FEW SUBJECTS IN HUMAN THOUGHT THAT RAISE SUCH STRONG EMOTIONS AS THE AFTERLIFE. What if anything, awaits us after we leave this physical world? Are we reincarnated to try to "get it right" through another life?

Do we simply vanish? Do we enter some state of bliss or torment based on our good deeds or lack of them? It seems that there is no end of conjecture offered by human religion and philosophy on this subject. Yet, most of this seems to be nothing more than baseless speculation. As we have no evidence (indeed, we cannot have any physical evidence) of what becomes of us after our physical death, it appears that we have no choice but to pick the idea that is most appealing to us and go with it. It is true enough that we will ultimately pick the idea of the afterlife that we choose to believe to be correct, yet this is a matter of sufficiently great importance to warrant our choosing wisely. The source of information we choose to accept as the correct depiction of the afterlife is one of the most critical decisions we will ever make. While this will ultimately be a matter of belief, we owe it to ourselves to make our choice based on what these sources actually say and not on what we think they say or what others tell us they say. This book is presented as a look at the Bible's teaching on the subject of the afterlife and the choices available to us for an existence after this present life is over. The findings presented in this book are at considerable variance with the teachings of traditional institutional Christian church doctrine and dogma. It is the author's hope that the points presented here will give the reader a different perspective of the biblical view of life, death and afterlife.

Eschatology Monkfish Book Publishing
What precisely happens at the time of death is a question that theologians have struggled over for centuries but have never answered satisfactorily. The response to this question that Ladislaus Boros gives in his monumental synthesis, The Mystery of Death, is that in death we meet Christ fully for the first time and in doing so attain to full consciousness and freedom. It is therefore only in the moment of death than humans are able to elect for or against their eternal salvation. In other words, death is a kind of judgment day, but it is we ourselves who pass judgment on ourselves. In her introduction and commentary, Cynthia Bourgeault argues passionately that Ladislaus Boros represents a necessary link to understanding the radical theology of Teilhard de Chardin. She presents Boros as a “powerful potential bridgebuilder. Standing firmly on the shoulders of his celebrated Jesuit mentor Karl Rahner, and highly skilled in the scholastic discourse that Teilhard himself eschewed, he is able to mediate an illuminating dialogue between Teilhard and the greater Christian theological tradition—not, as is so often the case in so much of contemporary Teilhardian scholarship, by secularizing Teilhard’s thought or draping it in current evolutionary jargon, but by piercing to the very marrow of Teilhard’s Christic mysticism and carrying it to an even more brilliant degree of spiritual luminosity.”

Beyond Death Independently Published Fairacres Publication 15 St Paul assures us of life after death and of the resurrection to eternal life. In this selection from Fr Gilbert Shaw’s teaching on the Christian approach to death we are given guidance in preparing for our own deaths and helping others to prepare for theirs. We are urged, too, to pray for all drawing close to death, especially those who, for whatever reason, have little hope in God’s mercy.
