Sarojini is living with her aunt in 99
moon avenue,
studying in an expensive University and trying to fit,
but the garish metropolis is ruthless. She finds love and understanding in her journalist-
neighbour jalaj when tragedy strikes- an unknown
assailant molested her on the street.
Can Sarojini
fight the mental trauma and callousness of the authorities in charge of her case? Is Jalaj using her for sex and convenience? And who is the lady she saw in an empty train at a wayside station? The colonial bungalows of their posh locality are set to be demolished, and replaced with multi-storey buildings, but an Englishwoman killed in 1942 still lurks in Sarojini's room. Jalaj is enamored by imperial Delhi, and her ghost appears to him occasionally—she tells him about the architect who designed Moon Avenue, magical tales of European adventurers and their Indian bibis, spirits, and mystics prowling the streets of Delhi, and the bizarre manner in which she was murdered. Caught between two women; one dead and another living, is Jalaj treating both frivolously? Why is the dead woman telling him her story? Set in a fictional area of the timeless capital-city: 99 Moon Avenue is the story of self-discovery of a small-town girl torn by circumstances, a young man grieved by the impending loss of a piece of Delhi history, and a mysterious ghost trapped in past calamity. The Way Universal Law Publishing This book examines the status of English Studies in India, aspirations pinned on the subject by students, teachers, policy-makers and society in general, and how these are addressed at the higher education level. It presents analytical background discussions of the history and policy environment, and offers open-ended, multi-faceted and multi-vocal accounts of particular aspects of contemporary Indian English Studies, including curriculum, pedagogy, research, employment, relation to Indian vernaculars and translation studies. Reconsidering English Studies in Indian Higher Education is an invaluable source for anyone interested in: The relevant histories and higher education policies Professional concerns, including employment, management, teaching and scholarly practices, and negotiations in terms of socio-cultural life Student attitudes, experiences and aspirations Management ethos and academic work in a comparative perspective, informed by the situation and debates in the United Kingdom and United States of America The context of global English Studies and globalization The book will be of primary interest to academic readers such as students, teachers and researchers in English Studies in India, Britain and wherever the discipline is pursued at higher education level Suman Gupta is Professor and Chair in Literature and Cultural History at The Open University. Richard Allen is Professor Emeritus at the Department of English at The Open University. Subarno Chattarji is Associate Professor at the Department of English, University of Delhi.  It's said that whatever action you do, it reflects the fate accordingly. But What if you are facing difficulties even after doing everything in limits of Humanity? It leads to huge disappointment and sometimes you can end up choosing the wrong path in despair. This world runs by the laws of God and it never discriminate with anyone. In case of difficulties even after good deeds there can be only two reasons; either there was something very destructive in your destiny which is being converted into negligible pain or nature wants to direct you in a direction where you are needed. Read out how a boy understands the nature's desire through unexpected events in his life.

In 2015, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) was elected to govern Delhi promising to improve public services, including education through government schools that would be the equal of private-school provision. Media reports, along with the party's re-election in 2020, suggest strong public confidence that AAP are delivering on that promise. But is this success reflected by experience in schools? Delhi's Education Revolution offers a critical evaluation of the AAP's education reforms by exploring policy and practice through the eyes of one key group: the government-school teachers tasked with making the AAP's pledge a reality. Drawing on 110 research interviews conducted via Zoom during the Covid pandemic in the summer of 2020, teachers explain how the reforms have changed their profession and practice, and whether education really has improved for children of all backgrounds. Analysis of views about critical issues such as inclusion and the pressure of achievement targets in classrooms that often contain more than 50 students, informs their observations about the reform programme itself. The study paints a more qualified picture of success than suggested elsewhere and makes a valuable contribution to the understanding of education reforms in India, and most especially, in Delhi. The Frozen Sun Wordsgenix Publication Papers presented at the International Seminar on Democratic and Secular Education, held at Thiruvananthapuram during 4-6 December 2008. Reconsidering English Studies in Indian Higher Education Prabhat Prakashan Some people ask God for temporal gifts. In the author's case, he has never asked God for anything. But being a devout Hindu for twenty years was only bringing misery, disease, poverty, hunger, and social ostracization in his life. There had to be a better path for him to follow. In his forties he started to engage with the Light--Christ--that he had done so in his formative years. He just asked for his will to be done in his life. He found more solace and less confusion and more clarity with God. This book relates the author's journey, an ongoing one, towards Jesus Christ, his One and Only LORD and Savior now. The Tip of the Iceberg Notion Press A story that begins from his childhood and completes with the end of world. Hold your breaths and get ready to live his life. A story which will remind you of your friends and give the message of the future.

Siddhartha is what we call him, the boy who dreamed of saving the world one day but when the day came, he lost everything. Almost everything except Madhava. The end was prophesied but watching it live is not in everyone's fortune. Seated on the cool sands of a beach, two friends debate on what is right and what is wrong. They watch their friends and family disappear in time. But that's the least they can do. Its then that Madhava comes up with a strange wish; to hear the history of his best friend. This is what we call as true friendship. Siddhartha narrates his story, shares his memories with Madhava. But was he satisfied, no instead he wanted a longer and clear story and that's what his friend gave. Let's find what had happened or what will happen if we don't take a step forward against it.....HAPPY READING.....

 Home to the politicians that lead this country. And to the taxiwallahs that more often than not charge a hundred per cent extra than the legitimate fare. U.P.: The badlands. Notorious for dacoits, land usurpation; and other misdeeds. This is the New Delhi and U.P that we travel through with the most lovable of all symbols associated with the city – the Ambassador car. Travails with Chachi is a ‘Never- before-Seen’ Delhi. It is a Delhi seen through the eyes of the Ambassador taxi – an ubiquitous symbol that for many	decades defined Delhi. Plodding through Lutyens’ Delhi on a maximum speed of 40 kmph Chachi (the protagonist of this book) sees all; experiences all; and tells all. The taxi belches; makes offensive noises; and is a tell-tale. And so the characters that Chachi plys on her ample ‘back’seat – dhoti-clad paan-chewing portly politicians indulging in	‘suitcase politics; Ganesh brand beedi chain- smokers; the Nakli Singh Yadavs who only want to induct people into politics – that is already home to bus conductors and convicted dacoits; the belan brandishing Bablu ki Ma; and Mehnath Singh – who is far removed from the name bestowed upon him by his parents that implies ‘hard work’. The lands that Chachi travels through is peppered with Broken Piece showcases heartfelt words from different awesome writers which will take you small ride of emotions of sadness, love and trust.c Broken Piece Srishthi Publishers & Distributors Heart Upon Sleeve is exposition of everyone's heart wrapped in emotional words. Each poem is unique in itself and unfolds the various aspects of life and its consequences along with COVID mayhem. In addition to that, this anthology comprises the music of love, sweetness, and the scent of life with a focused use of language that stimulates aesthetic reflection and contemplation . It contains a varied range of poetry from eroticism to spirituality and from love and romance to harsh realities. The cardinal reason for the versatility is that the poets in this anthology are from the novice teenagers to the veteran retired Professors from India and abroad. Some are amateurs, and some are professionally sound enough to place their words on the international intellectual forum.

There is no narrator in the Password novel. It is a journey from outside to inside and from inside to outside She is with him in this journey. But in being with you, a big world opens up. The landscape of a larger society stands out. This is a love story. But the characters of love are located in two different corners. There is no ideological emotional equilibrium in them. But even then there is love in which there is no expectation. This novel has been written in an email and message. This is a different experiment. At the level of language, thought, sentiment and creation, the writer has introduced post-modern literature. Therefore, this novel is unique.
