Landscape - National Gallery of Art Perhaps the most celebrated work of them all, Grant Wood's iconic American Gothic (1930), has never left North American shores before. In the devastating wake of the Wall Street Crash, artists sought to capture the changes in urbanisation, industrialisation and immigration that pulsed across the country, resulting in one of the most vital periods for American artists in the 20th century. America after the Fall: Painting in the 1930s | Exhibition ...American Landscape (1930) Museum of Modern Art, New York.  Sheeler is recognized as one of the founders of American

 modernism
 and one of the master
 photographers
 of the 20th century. He studied painting under
 William Merritt
 Chase in Pennsylvania.
 In 1909, he went to Paris,
 just when the
 popularity of Cubism was skyrocketing.
