Cats are the world's most popular domestic pet, as well as being wild animals. This comprehensive book on feline behaviour explores both the familiar domesticated animal and wild relatives such as the leopard, tiger and lynx to examine the Felidae family as a whole, allowing for fascinating comparisons between wild and domestic species and explanations of behaviour in pet cats with evolutionary origins. Fraser's work helps increase readers' understanding of cat behaviour - why they behave as they do, for what purpose and why. The focus is on identifying normal behaviour from the cat's perspective.

Cats with chronic kidney disease (CKD) have particular nutritional needs. Most importantly, they need to eat foods with as low a phosphorus content as possible. Special therapeutic kidney diets are widely available, but not every CKD cat will eat these foods; and it is essential that a CKD cat eats. This book therefore lists the composition of more than 1300 US cat foods from a CKD perspective i.e. providing the phosphorus, protein, sodium, fat and carbohydrate values on a dry matter analysis, together with the calorie content. If you have a cat with kidney disease, you need this book. Don't go cat food shopping without it!
