and text shows how the latest research in adolescent literacy can be translated into effective practice in middle and high school classrooms. Leading authorities discuss findings on the adolescent learner, addressing such essential topics as comprehension, content-area literacy, differentiated instruction, gender differences in literacy learning, and English language learners. With a focus on evidence-based methods, coverage ranges from techniques for building digital literacy and comprehension skills to strategies for flexible grouping and writing instruction. Ideal for courses in adolescent literacy, each chapter includes guiding questions, discussion questions, and classroom examples.

Putnam Juvenile

Nicole Nieman had never really thought about being Jewish. Now, with the Nazis occupying France, refugees escaping to the border with Switzerland frequently stay with her family. Should they go, too? Then came the day when Nicole returned home to find her parents and sister gone, and the Nazis were looking for her. Where could she go?

And would she ever see her family again? A New York Times Outstanding Children's Book of the Year. Juvenile Fiction by Marilyn Sachs; originally published by Doubleday
Lyddie Penguin

After Jip is sent to live in a poor town, he makes his living by tending to the animals on the farm, but his quiet life is disturbed when a strange man comes around claiming he knows Jip's father.

Reissue.

Lyddie [by] Katherine Paterson Penguin

Angel's dad is in jail and her mum's abandoned her and her little brother at their great-grandmother's crumbling farmhouse.

Grandma can't even look after herself, let alone two children, so Angel finds that it's left up to her. In a dreary and lonely world there is only one bright spot - a mysterious stranger who appears on clear nights to teach Angel all about the stars.*

Katherine Paterson is an internationally acclaimed author who has won the Newbery Medal (twice), the National Book Award for Children's Literature (USA) twice, and the prestigious Hans Christian Andersen Award

Each reproducible Response Journal has 50 or more prompts and is arranged with three to four prompts per chapter. Also included are: Class Record Sheet, Student Response Sheet, Test, and Answer Key.

A Musical Play Choc Lit Dyamonde Daniel is excited about the local library's poetry contest, and so is her friend Free. The prize is one hundred dollars?just think what they could buy with that much money! But when they find out that Damaris, one of their classmates, has been living in a homeless shelter, their ideas about what it means to be rich or poor start to change. And when they get to know Damaris, they realize the one who could use the prize money the most also happens to be the best poet in class. In this fantastic follow-up to Make Way for Dyamonde Daniel, Nikki Grimes tackles big issues like homelessness in a sensitive, kid-friendly way. Dymonde's can-do attitude and lively spirit will endear her to readers.

As my parents, the twins parents, Lionel, Liam, Lori, and I climbed into the twins' family's large white van, I could not help but feel excited. Not only was today my eighteenth birthday, but all of us were going to celebrate it at Walt Disney World's Magic Kingdom! Even though I am excited about the birthday dinner, cake, and opening presents, I am especially excited about going to my favorite Disney park of all time!

Growing up in her Amish community in Culver County, Pennsylvania, Lyddie Fisher feels as though she will never fit in. The Amish way of life comes with many strict teachings that Lyddie herself finds hard to follow at times. Her heart breaks as Josiah, her best friend and the man she feels she will one day marry, turns his back on her in anger. Her many questions bring her much discipline from the new bishop as well. Will both men be able to make her submit to them, their rules, and the rules of the district? Will her relationship with Josiah ever be restored? Or will Lyddie find love outside the Amish Faith and leave her family, community, and her Amish heritage behind? Follow Lyddie through her life's journey as she struggles between living the life that is expected of her and the desire to follow her own heart.

1910. Pownal, Vermont. At 12, Grace and her best friend Arthur must leave school and go to work as a "doffers" on their mothers' looms in the mill. Grace's mother is the best worker, fast and powerful, and Grace desperately wants to help her. But she's left handed and doffing is a right-handed job. Grace's every mistake costs her mother, and the family. She only feels capable on Sundays, when she and Arthur receive special lessons from their teacher. Together they write a secret letter to the Child Labor Board about underage children working in Pownal. A few weeks later a man with a camera shows up. It is the famous reformer Lewis Hine, undercover, collecting evidence for the Child Labor Board. Grace's brief acquaintance with Hine and the photos he takes of her are a gift that changes her sense of herself, her future, and her family's future.
